

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Tuesday 04 Mar 2008

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Cloud in the north will gradually spread throughout on Wednesday with rain in the north, becoming heavy over northwest Scotland later, and light rain or drizzle over western hills. It is likely to remain sunny at times in the southeast into the afternoon. Wind will increase in the morning, becoming strong in the north.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

Rain periods are expected, sometimes heavy, particularly in the northwest, interspersed with scattered showers and clearer spells, these mostly in the east. The showers are likely to become wintry over high ground on Friday. It will remain windy, with gales at times, especially in the north.

(C) Crown Copyright 2008. Published by the Met Office.