

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Monday 27 Aug 2012

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be a much brighter day for most, with sunny spells developing. There will also be a scattering of showers around mainly in the west, though many places should remain dry. Some of the showers may be on the heavy side at times. Southwesterly winds generally easing, but still remaining windy in the north. Maximum temperature, 23 Celsius (73F).

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
Blustery showers developing across most parts of the UK on Wednesday, some heavy and possibly thundery. Showers clearing east through Thursday, allowing for brighter and mainly dry weather to establish itself. Temperatures generally around average for the time of year.

(C) Crown Copyright 2012. Published by the Met Office.