

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0700 on Sunday 10 Nov 2013

++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
After a cold start, it will be a largely sunny day with light winds with any showers across the far east easing. Cloud will thicken from the west to bring strong winds and rain across western areas by evening, spreading eastwards across all parts overnight. It will turn milder after a cold start.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:
After a wet and windy start across the UK on Monday, northern parts will see sunny spells and scattered showers by afternoon whilst patchy rain persists further south. Many areas will enjoy a fine day on Tuesday, but it will stay windy and showery in the north.

(C) Crown Copyright 2013. Published by the Met Office.