Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Rather cloudy conditions and patchy rain gradually clearing the far southwest during the morning. Isolated showers may also develop in the afternoon, mainly across parts of the north and west. Otherwise, largely dry with sunny spells and warm for most.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
Remaining fine and dry across much of England and Wales with some good sunny spells. Thickening cloud in the northwest on Wednesday, is likely to bring outbreaks of rain to Northern Ireland and western Scotland in the afternoon. Also becoming windy in northwest. Rain in the northwest then continuing gradually southeastwards into northern England and northern Wales later on Thursday.
