Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
After any early low cloud and drizzle clears, it will become dry, warm and sunny across England, Wales, and Northern Ireland, but still rather breezy. Further north across western Scotland, the wet and windy weather will continue, though in contrast, staying mainly dry and warm for eastern Scotland. The rain will then sink southwards into Northern Ireland during the afternoon.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

Becoming generally dry and settled across much of the UK, and feeling fairly pleasant and warm during the afternoons with sunny spells, but cooler around coasts with sea breezes. Cloudier and breezier with some light rain at times across Scotland.
