Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Thursday will be mainly dry with plenty of very warm sunshine and blue skies around. However, eastern coasts of Scotland may see some lingering low cloud and fog, with some fog over northeast England at first too. Southwest England will turn cloudier through the day with some rain, locally heavy, spreading in later on.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:
Western parts will be warm, but rather cloudy with some rain or showers on Friday and these conditions will spread across Scotland overnight, before clearing northeastwards during Saturday. Otherwise it will be dry and very warm with some sunshine, although east coasts will be cooler.
