Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Skies will be cloudy at first in the south with some light and patchy rain.
However, it will turn drier and brighter in the south through the day. It will be a bright and breezy start to the day in the north, and most places will stay dry. However, scattered showers will reach northern Scotland in the afternoon.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:
Blustery showers will continue in the north through Friday, but it will be milder in the south with some rain overnight. It will turn colder across the UK during the weekend with wintry showers in the north, and overnight frosts too.
