Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
After a bright but chilly start, it will become cloudier for much of England and Wales during the day, but stay largely dry with sunny spells. Rain is likely to continue over Scotland, with a few outbreaks possible across Northern Ireland and northern England in the afternoon. It will feel rather cold too, despite mostly light north to northwesterly winds.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
It is likely to stay cloudy for most of the UK, with outbreaks of light rain for many places. A few bright spells should linger across the far southeast of England though. It will remain rather cold, with light winds.
