++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Monday will generally be a breezy day across the UK and feel much cooler than over the weekend. There will be a mixture of sunny spells and scattered showers. The showers are most likely to affect Scotland, Northern Ireland and eastern parts of England and could turn wintry over the highest peaks in Scotland for a time.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:

Through Tuesday and Wednesday the weather will remain generally unsettled and windy across the north of the UK with outbreaks of heavy rain for some, and drier interludes. In contrast, it will be mostly dry in the south with variable amounts of cloud.
