++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
For Wales, the Midlands and southern England, it will be overcast and humid, with outbreaks of heavy rain. Initially bright across Northern Ireland and northern England, before rain gradually spreads northeastwards. Remaining dry and bright across Scotland, especially in the north. Mainly humid and cloudy tonight with further rain at times, though drying-up across central and southeastern England.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:

Very wet across Northern Ireland, Wales, and much of western and northern Britain on Wednesday, while being warmer, brighter and showery across central and eastern England. Only the far north of Scotland staying dry on Wednesday. More rain to come on Thursday.
