

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Thursday 27 May 2010

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:

A dry day for many tomorrow with good spells of sunshine. Showers will develop across Scotland, Northern Ireland and southern England around midday, with further showers across northern England from mid-afternoon. These may be on the heavier side across northwest Scotland and along the south coast of England. It will feel pleasantly warm in the sunshine.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:

Persistent and sometimes heavy rain for England and Wales on Saturday, with scattered showers elsewhere. A drier day for many on Sunday with sunny spells, especially across Wales and the southwest, but strong winds will affect eastern parts. Temperatures around normal.

(C) Crown Copyright 2010. Published by the Met Office.