Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Towards the southeast it's going to be mild and fine to start, though rather cloudy at times. It'll turn windy as a band of occasional rain pushes in from the northwest. Behind the rain it will be noticeably cooler with some bright or sunny spells, but also a few wintry showers in the north and west.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:

Monday is going to get off to a fine but chilly start. It's then going to turn wet and windy as a frontal system tracks eastwards across the UK. Tuesday should then be mostly dry, though some showers are possible in the north.
