

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Sunday 05 Sep 2010

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Heavy rain over southwest England, south Wales and Northern Ireland will spread northeast to many remaining parts of the UK during the day, but Scotland should stay mostly dry and bright. Southeasterly winds will be strong, reaching gale force across exposed northwestern parts of the UK, but quickly ease as rain clears from southwest England in the evening.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:

It will remain windy across Scotland on Thursday, with rain spreading across the country. Elsewhere, there will be lighter winds and a mixture of sunshine and sharp showers. Scattered heavy, locally thundery showers and sunny intervals will affect most parts on Wednesday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2010. Published by the Met Office.