Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Showers for southeast England, some on the heavy side in the morning, although easing into the afternoon. Elsewhere, a dry day for much of the UK, with just the odd light shower. Temperatures will be around the seasonal average although feeling quite warm in the sunshine and light winds.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:

Saturday will be a fairly cloudy day for much of the UK, with the best of any brightness in eastern England. Outbreaks of mainly light rain, will affect many western areas. Sunday will see further light rain for some northwestern parts, but drier elsewhere. Temperatures near normal in mainly light winds.
