

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Friday 09 Aug 2013

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
For many it will be a generally dry day with variable amounts of cloud and sunny spells. Scattered showers will continue in many northern and some western parts of the UK though, and some light rain may reach the far southwest of England later in the day. It will feel a little cooler than of late with temperatures around average.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
Showery outbreaks of rain will cross southern Britain during Sunday, clearing to the east in the afternoon. Otherwise much of the UK will be breezy, with scattered showers continuing in northwestern parts of the UK and some brighter weather elsewhere.

(C) Crown Copyright 2013. Published by the Met Office.