Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Mostly cloudy, with showers or longer spells of rain, which could be heavy at times. The best of the brightness, with a little sunshine, will be in the west, especially later in the day. Rain will linger in some eastern parts overnight, but most areas will become dry, clearer and colder Thursday night, with frost in places.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

Cloud and rain in the far west early Friday will move only slowly eastwards through the day, with eastern parts mostly dry and bright. Rain in the east on Saturday will slowly clear, with more rain arriving in the south and west later.
