Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:

A dry day is expected for most. However, some northwestern areas may see some light rain, especially around the coast and on hills through the morning. Bright spells should develop across central and eastern parts of England, and eastern parts of Scotland and Wales. It will feel mild, particularly in any sunshine.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:

It will remain mainly dry and rather cloudy. Eastern areas should see the brightest weather, particularly on Sunday, when it will feel very mild. There is a risk of fog forming overnight, particularly around the southwestern coasts of England and Wales, and where clear spells form elsewhere.
