Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:

Rain and brisk winds will gradually spread across southwest England, into Wales, the Midlands and southeast England during the day, with the rain becoming heavy in places during the afternoon and evening. Northeastern areas of Britain will stay rather cool and cloudy with scattered showers throughout. It will be dry elsewhere with some sunny spells.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

There is a chance of further heavy rain in parts of England and Wales on Friday, with bright intervals and showers elsewhere. Further showers or longer spells of rain are expected on Saturday although there will be some drier, brighter intervals in many areas.
