Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Sunday will be rather cloudy with some rain, locally heavy and thundery in western and then central areas, perhaps clearing during the evening from some western areas later. The southeast should remain mostly fine and dry until later, where it will be another rather warm day.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:

On Monday, rain in eastern Britain will return towards the west, tending to die out as it does so. Tuesday will be mostly fine and sunny. It will become generally warm in many areas with lighter winds, although still rather chilly near some eastern coasts.
