

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Friday 06 Jun 2008

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Much of Northern Ireland, Scotland and northern England will be dry and fair on Saturday with broken cloud, though the cloud perhaps thick enough inland for the odd light shower. For central and southeastern England, it will be rather cloudy with occasional light rain. Wales and southwest England should be generally brighter, with isolated sharp showers across Devon and Cornwall.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
Predominantly warm and fine across much of England and Wales, albeit a little cloudier towards the west. Cooler and more unsettled across Scotland and Northern Ireland with spells of wet weather. becoming rather windy too in the northwest on Monday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2008. Published by the Met Office.