Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
A band of sometimes heavy rain across northern England and southern Scotland first thing, will move slowly northwards across Scotland through the day. Central and southern areas turning brighter as the rain clears, but with locally heavy showers likely, especially in the west. Very windy with gales, perhaps severe gales in the west.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:
Showers in the north and west on both Thursday and Friday, though some brighter spells in between. Cloud and occasional drizzly rain in the southeast. Otherwise, a good deal of dry weather, though with the chance of the odd shower.
