Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:

A wet start across much of Scotland but the rain will finally clear east during the day with just a few showers following on behind. Elsewhere, will see a lot of cloud during the day but some sunshine will break through at times. Some rain will also develop though, especially during the morning but turning drier during the afternoon.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:

Apart from a few showers, Tuesday will be largely dry but mostly cloudy with the best of the sunshine towards the southwest. Wednesday though will see rain, heavy at times affecting western and northwestern parts of the UK, dry though elsewhere.
