Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Tomorrow will be a chilly day, with strong winds and scattered showers in the east. They will extend further inland through the day and will be wintry over hills. It'll be drier and brighter elsewhere, but there will be frequent showers over Pembrokeshire and Cornwall.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:
It will be mainly dry at first on Monday, with any showers dying out, and there'll be sunshine for most into the afternoon. Rain, with the risk of hill snow, will then arrive across the west on Tuesday and it will spread to all areas into the evening.
