++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
There will be a frosty and foggy start, but this will lift to leave many central and eastern parts dry with increasingly hazy sunshine. However, wet and windy weather will gradually spread in across the west with the rain turning heavy at times. It will also be a rather chilly day for most of us.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:
The band of rain, with hill snow in the north, will become increasingly confined to eastern parts on Tuesday. Drier with sunny spells in the west and heavy showers in the south-west. Mostly dry, but cloudy on Wednesday, especially in the east, and turning colder.
