

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Wednesday 03 Sep 2008

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Locally heavy rain in southeastern England will gradually clear away southeastwards during the day. Elsewhere there will be a mixture of sunshine and showers, some of which will be heavy, although some places will remain dry throughout. It will be less windy in the south compared to Wednesday.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

Windy and very wet weather will spread northeastwards across England and Wales during Friday. Scotland and Northern Ireland will have isolated showers. On Saturday all parts except the far northwest of Scotland will have either showers or longer spells of rain. There will be some prolonged, heavy bursts, especially in northeastern England.

(C) Crown Copyright 2008. Published by the Met Office.