++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Another cloudy day across much of England and Wales with rain moving eastwards.
This rain will be heavy at first, before becoming patchier as it comes east.
Much of Scotland, Northern Ireland and perhaps northern England will be brighter with sunny spells, but also some showers.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
After a cloudy, damp start across southern parts Wednesday, it will slowly brighten up and turn warmer, but with a few sharp showers developing. Sunshine and showers elsewhere. Cloud, rain and strengthening winds will push into western, and then northern, parts through Thursday; but southeastern parts will be dry, bright and become very warm.
