Forecast for the UK.
Issued by the Met Office
at 1945 on Sunday 1 August 2004

 Valid for Broadcast at 2159 **

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow :
Many eastern areas will start rather grey and misty, but this should burn back to North Sea coasts. Thereafter, most places will have sunny periods, but thundery showers, already across parts of southwest England and Wales are expected to spread to other western and later some central areas. It will be very warm or hot, but will be refreshingly cooler near coasts with onshore sea breezes, but the misty North Sea coasts will feel cool.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:
Unsettled with sunshine and showers, these heavy and thundery, especially in the east. It will remain warm and humid, but it should turn cooler and fresher in the west.
