++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
The rain and snow will gradually start to clear, although in some eastern parts of England there will be some heavy bursts continuing through the morning, and lasting into the afternoon in the far south-east. Elsewhere it will be bright, with some heavy showers in the west.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

On Thursday there will still be a few heavy showers around, but many places will be dry through the day with some bright spells, and the winds will be lighter. However by Friday we will see the return of some wet and windy weather as a weather front moves in.
