

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Saturday 13 Jun 2009

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Early mist and fog patches will quickly clear. Then heavy showers are again likely to develop across Scotland and Northern Ireland. Some of the showers likely to have hail and thunder. Further south there is still scope for the odd lighter shower but many places enjoying a warm dry day.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:
Widespread showers on Monday are likely to become heavy, some with hail and thunder. The showers slow moving and lasting well into the evening could give substantial rainfall locally. Showers finally clearing the East of England on Tuesday morning, then generally dry with some sunshine. Temperatures mostly near normal.

(C) Crown Copyright 2009. Published by the Met Office.