

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Friday 16 Mar 2012

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
A band of rain in parts of England and Wales will continue southeast, with occasionally heavy showers following into western areas. Some of these showers will be heavy with a risk of thunder, particularly in parts of Wales. Further north, it will be drier and brighter in Scotland and Northern Ireland, with showers in the far north and west.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
Mainly fine on Sunday in northern UK, whilst southern parts stay showery. Monday will start fine, however northern UK will become wet and windy later, with the south clouding over but staying dry. Chilly during both nights, with frosts returning.

(C) Crown Copyright 2012. Published by the Met Office.