++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
The far north of Scotland will be cloudy with rain, heavy and prolonged at times. Elsewhere, there will be sunshine and showers, some heavy in the north, but many southern and southwestern areas should remain dry. It will feel warmer in lighter winds. Tonight, further rain for northern Scotland. Elsewhere, dry with patchy mist.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
There will be some sunshine, but showers are likely to develop on both days, and some of these are likely to be heavy and slow moving with a risk of hail and thunder. However, it should feel pleasantly warm in sunshine and in light winds.
