++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:

A mostly dry and bright start for some eastern areas tomorrow, but strong winds and rain will already be affecting northern and western areas. The rain will turn heavy at times and spread further eastwards throughout the day. Some brighter but showery conditions reaching the far west later in the day.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:

A much drier and brighter day on Tuesday with just a scattering of showers developing, particularly towards the north. Wednesday though will see winds strengthen once again with further rain or showers spreading across right across the country, turning heavy and thundery in places as they do so.
