

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Sunday 04 Dec 2011

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Heavy wintry showers will continue to affect northwestern parts of the United Kingdom on Monday, with further snow expected in Scotland, northwest England and Northern Ireland. It will be rather cloudy with showers in southwestern Britain, but drier and brighter elsewhere. It will remain breezy and will feel cold.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:
Further showers are expected on Tuesday and Wednesday, with these falling as snow at times in many northern and western areas of the UK. Eastern counties will see the best of any dry, bright weather but it will remain windy and cold in all areas.

(C) Crown Copyright 2011. Published by the Met Office.