Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be rather cloudy across Scotland, with outbreaks of light rain lasting for much of the day. Elsewhere, there should be a mixture of bright spells and scattered, heavy and possibly thundery showers, which may merge into longer spells of rain at times. It should generally feel a little warmer, although winds will be quite breezy.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:
Staying fairly unsettled throughout with occasional rain or blustery showers for most, although eastern parts of England may be a little drier and brighter on Friday. Temperatures should stay around normal, and southwesterly winds will remain quite brisk across England and Wales.
