Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Starting cloudy in Northern Ireland, Scotland, Wales and western England, with outbreaks of rain, but becoming brighter and cooler in the afternoon with sunny spells and scattered showers, some of them heavy in the northwest. Other parts of England will have a dry, bright and warm morning before the rain arrives, with parts of southeast England staying dry throughout.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:

Breezy with sunny spells for most on Tuesday, along with some blustery showers mainly in the north and west. Eastern areas starting dry on Wednesday, but persistent rain in the west will spread eastwards through the day. Feeling cooler than recently.
