

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Thursday 29 Dec 2011

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Showers continuing this evening, but gradually easing overnight. Turning chilly with clear spells for a time, especially in northern and eastern UK, where it may turn frosty. Cloud and rain spreading to western areas later, with outbreaks of rain continuing north and east tomorrow. The rain preceded by snow over some northern hills. Rather cold but turning milder later.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:

Mild and breezy on Saturday with outbreaks of rain and drizzle in the west, but brighter in eastern areas. Perhaps some rain in southern counties of England on Sunday, but brighter elsewhere with showers, these slowly turning wintry over northern hills.

(C) Crown Copyright 2011. Published by the Met Office.