++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It is likely to be a rather cloudy start across the UK with some fog patches in places as well as a few spots of drizzle across western areas. As the day progresses bright or sunny spells should develop, particularly across central and eastern parts, although some western areas are likely to remain dull and damp.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:

Wednesday and Thursday will see similar conditions prevail, with largely cloudy, dull and damp weather becoming widespread overnight. However sunny spells should develop by day, although the extreme west is likely to remain generally overcast, with further light rain or drizzle here.
