

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Thursday 10 Dec 2009

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Fog affecting many parts will be slow to clear from some central areas leaving a cold and dull day. A frosty start too especially across Scotland and northern England. Staying mostly dry though, with the best of any sunshine across northern and western areas. However, there will be some mainly light rain over Northern Ireland during the morning.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:
Mostly settled and cold with overnight frost and fog. Fog is likely to be widespread and slow to clear in places. Breezier and milder across the far south of the UK with a risk of showers for the far southeast.

(C) Crown Copyright 2009. Published by the Met Office.