

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0700 on Tuesday 07 Oct 2008

++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
A cloudy, wet start with some heavy rain spreading northeastwards across all parts. However, brighter, more showery weather will spread to western and southern areas this afternoon. Tonight, the rain becomes confined to northeast Britain, clear spells following behind. It will become windy, particularly in the south and west.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:

There will be sunny spells and a few scattered showers on Wednesday, the showers mainly in the south and west. Southern and eastern areas should remain dry with some sunshine on Thursday, however rain and strong winds will spread to northwestern Britain.

(C) Crown Copyright 2008. Published by the Met Office.