Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
There will be a few showers in central areas during the day, but elsewhere becoming mainly dry with sunny spells. Winds will be decreasing, and although clouding over later in the west, clear spells will allow a touch of frost in the east during the evening.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:

It will be cloudy, mild and windy on Wednesday, rain in western areas spreading eastwards to all areas. The strongest winds and heaviest rain are likely to be in the northwest. Thursday will be drier with sunny intervals, but with scattered showers in the west and northwest.
