Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
A day of sunshine and further scattered heavy, perhaps thundery showers tomorrow, especially towards the north and west of the UK. Many southeastern areas staying dry and sunny, though a little less warm than recent days. Breezy in the southwest.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
Becoming drier and more settled on Wednesday with some sunshine, especially in the south where it will turn warmer. A few showers likely at times for Scotland and Northern Ireland, but less heavy than of late. Remaining largely dry and bright across England and Wales on Thursday, but outbreaks of rain will affect parts of Scotland and Northern Ireland.
