Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:

A rather cloudy start, especially across eastern areas of the UK, with the odd drizzly shower possible. Elsewhere any mist and fog will soon clear with sunny spells developing though the day. The best of the warm sunshine will be across western parts.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:

Eastern areas will turn more unsettled Monday and Tuesday, with cloudier skies and isolated showers, perhaps heavy at times. However it will remain fine and dry for most western parts, with the best of the sunny spells across western Northern Ireland, western Wales and southwestern England. Generally light winds for most, but turning breezier across southern coasts.
