

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Monday 05 Jan 2009

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
After a very cold night with a widespread, hard frost most of England, Wales and Northern Ireland will have a sunny day. It will remain very cold and the frost will persist all day long in many areas. Scotland will be cloudier with some rain and hill snow at times, and this will spread into northern England later.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
Wednesday will be cold again and there will be a little sleet in places, although some eastern areas should have some sunshine at times. Thursday, cold again in the south, but dry in most parts with variable cloud and patches of fog.

(C) Crown Copyright 2009. Published by the Met Office.