

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Friday 01 Dec 2006

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
For most areas a dry and bright day is expected with sunny spells, although the cloud and rain across southeast England may not clear until late in the day, and a few showers are likely in the west. Afternoon temperatures will be close to normal. During the evening, rain and gales will spread to western areas.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
Heavy rain and gales will sweep eastwards on Saturday night, clearing to showers on Sunday morning, the winds easing down. However, further gales, severe in places, will affect many central areas later. More rain and strong winds will spread from the west on Monday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2006. Published by the Met Office.