Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Monday will be another generally fine, dry and mild day with plenty of sunshine and light winds. Mist and fog patches may linger into the day in places though, and some eastern parts of Scotland may see persistent low cloud.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:

Early fog and mist on Tuesday, particularly in eastern areas, will clear to another mainly dry, mild and sunny day, although it will be colder where fog lingers. Winds will be mostly light, but a brisk easterly will develop about the southwest coast. By Wednesday, cloud will begin to increase gradually from the east and it will become generally cooler.
