

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Monday 07 Apr 2008

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Scotland will be largely cloudy with showery rain, snow on hills, with the driest conditions over western parts there. Some outbreaks of showery rain will spread south over N.Ireland during the day. Otherwise a mixture of sunny spells and scattered, sometimes wintry, showers is expected. Rather cold after a largely frosty start.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
Remaining unsettled and rather cold with sunny spells and wintry showers on Wednesday, with overnight frost likely. More cloud and some longer spells of rain are likely on Thursday, but snow will become confined to the Scottish mountains, with temperatures returning to around normal.

(C) Crown Copyright 2008. Published by the Met Office.