Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Beginning with an area of heavy, thundery rain over much of Scotland and running down into England through the East Midlands into southern England, with other parts having a drier brighter morning. The rain will ease away to the northeast but further heavy, thundery showers will develop in most areas during the afternoon. Very warm in the southeast.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
Heavy rain early on Sunday morning moving into the north of the UK, with clearer brighter conditions following into the south. More showers may break out in the south and west later. Monday will see scattered showers in many areas.
