Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It'll be rather cloudy with showery rain at times for northern and western parts of Scotland, and into Northern Ireland. Much of England and Wales will be dry and bright, with sunny spells, but with a chilly easterly wind developing.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:
High pressure will be dominating the weather during the start of the week, with most places staying fine and dry, with sunny spells. Staying breezy, and feeling cooler than average for many, particularly in the south and east. Chilly by night, with the risk of frost and fog in places.
