++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be a bright start to the day for many with some warm spells of sunshine.
However, cloud will thicken for most during the day with patchy rain arriving across Scotland and Northern Ireland, where it will be cooler and fresher.
Elsewhere, it will still feel warm and muggy.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:

The far north and south will remain fine and warm on Saturday, whilst across central parts it will be cloudier with some showery outbreaks of rain. Showers will then become more widespread on Sunday and Monday, especially across southern and eastern parts, but it will be much fresher.
