

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Friday 07 May 2010

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Dry but mostly cloudy day across Scotland and northern England with the best of the sunshine in Northern Ireland. The Midlands, Wales and southern England, cloudy with outbreaks of mainly light rain or drizzle. It will feel cold in the strong northeasterly wind, particularly in eastern parts.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
Cloud will slowly break on Sunday to give brighter intervals and isolated showers, these turning wintry over the Scottish hills. Showery rain will affect the north on Monday, falling as snow or hail over high ground. The south will see a dry day with the best of the sunshine in the southwest.

(C) Crown Copyright 2010. Published by the Met Office.